Once you have completed this survey, please cut it out, put it in an envelope and address it to FREEPOST SOUTH ESSEX HOMES. No need to attach a stamp, just pop it in a post box to reach us no later than Friday 11th September. Thank you!
I do hope that you and your loved ones have stayed safe and well during this lockdown period.

This has clearly been a very unusual time for us here at South Essex Homes and I am one of many staff usually based at the Civic Centre who have been working from home since mid-March. Whatever changes to your normal lifestyle that lockdown has involved for you, I hope you have managed well and found your own ways of dealing with it.

It was lovely to learn about the art project we are involved with in partnership with Focal Point Gallery (see page 11) – I hope that has given some of you something a bit different to do while at home and if you still want to take part, there are additional art packs available on request.

Hope you enjoy this issue of Insight and, as ever, we love to hear your feedback so please do get in touch if you have any comments.

All the best,

Julia

Message from Mike

The last time I shared a message with you, we were in the middle of the pandemic lockdown period and we had needed to rapidly change the whole way in which our services were being delivered, where we were still able to deliver them.

While we are clearly not anywhere close to being back to ‘normal’, we are certainly on the way out of total lockdown. I’m pleased to say that a number of our services which had stopped at the time of my last message are now beginning and in many cases are back to full service.

Critically this includes a full repairs service provided by our various contractors and also our ability to process empty properties and to get people moving into these homes. However our organisation is still largely working remotely and there are relatively few people operating from the Civic Centre and as a result, much of our contact with residents is still through telephone and electronic means instead of face-to-face.

While we hope to get back to that face-to-face service as soon as possible, of course we have to follow government guidance very closely and we will continue to work hard to reinstate the full service for you as soon as we can.

To this end, we are keen to gather your thoughts and feedback about the service you have received from us, specifically since the start of lockdown. I am aware that there may be widely different viewpoints but I am sure that there are some very useful lessons to be learnt from the experiences people will have had during the past few months whilst a set of temporary working arrangements have been in place.

Please do therefore take the time to complete the survey on the opposite page and return it to us by 11th September so we can get a useful snapshot of how we have managed during this period and use your comments to further develop our services over the coming weeks and months.

Best wishes

Mike

Mike Gatrell, Chief Executive of South Essex Homes
We have reviewed our response to reports of anti-social behaviour (ASB) that affect our residents and the wider community. We thought it would be useful to share with you how ASB is defined in the context of housing and the types of ASB we would or would not normally investigate.

What is Anti-Social Behaviour?

South Essex Homes adopts the definitions of anti-social behaviour as outlined in the Anti-Social Behaviour, Crime and Policing Act 2014:

For anti-social behaviour in a housing context; anti-social behaviour is considered to be conduct that is capable of causing nuisance and annoyance to a person in relation to that person’s occupation of a residential premises or the conduct is capable of causing housing related nuisance or annoyance to any person.

South Essex Homes will also consider any anti-social behaviour definitions as stated in a tenancy agreement with Southend Borough Council when taking action to manage anti-social behaviour.

Types of Anti-Social Behaviour

Anti-social behaviour can mean different things to different people and may or may not include criminal activity. Where the ASB includes criminal activity or statutory nuisance caused by a resident which impacts on the homes that we manage, then South Essex Homes will liaise with the Police and other relevant agencies such as Environmental Health.

The types of conduct that may amount to anti-social behaviour include (but are not limited to):

- Intimidation or harassment
- Aggressive and threatening language or behaviour
- Actual violence against people and property
- Hate crimes/Hate incidents
- Regular and persistent noise nuisance which is having a significant impact on the lives of neighbouring residents

What South Essex Homes Are Not Able To Investigate

The types of conduct that we would not normally investigate as anti-social behaviour are (but not limited to):

- Children playing in the street, around their home or park and not causing damage or being abusive
- Children arguing
- People gathering and socialising in the street, unless causing damage, being abusive or threatening
- Riding bikes or skateboards around the estates that we manage
- Events in the home such as; flushing toilets, cooking smells, smoking in own home, vacuuming floors, washing machines, babies crying or playing
- Staring or looking at someone
- Pets straying across garden areas
- One off noise nuisance such as a one off party or BBQ
- Normal conversation heard through walls or floors
- Noise travelling through ceilings or walls due to poor insulation or type of flooring
- People carrying out DIY in reasonable hours (we normally suggest not outside the hours of 8am to 10pm Monday to Friday and 9am to 10pm on Saturdays and Sundays)
- People mowing lawns during reasonable hours of the day (see previous point for suggested timescales)
- Normal vehicle noise
- Neighbours walking around their home and across floors
- Neighbours closing doors, cupboards or windows
- Parking issues, including parking across driveways
- Civil disputes such as boundary issues
- Certain incidents which may be considered a criminal offence and which should be reported to and dealt with by the police, such as burglary and theft

Every report of anti-social behaviour will be recorded however we will not investigate in isolation the examples of conduct as detailed above.

South Essex Homes officers will exercise their judgement in order to establish an appropriate response to the report of anti-social behaviour including what has happened, the harm caused or risk of harm, the frequency of incidents, the evidence available and any known vulnerabilities of the people involved.

If you need to report ASB, you can phone us on 0800 833160 or email antisocialbehaviour@seh.southend.gov.uk

Current plans for the Better Queensway regeneration scheme show that Quantock will be the first tower block to be demolished if planning permission is granted.

The project will see £500 million invested in the area since April 2019 when Swan Housing Association signed a contract to work in partnership with Southend-on-Sea Borough Council, work has really progressed quickly to deliver the new estate.

Porters Place Southend-on-Sea LLP was formed and several public events have since been held to understand what residents want and need from the new estate.

It is hoped once planning permission has been granted, that work will start on building the new homes on the current Essex Street car park in 2021 and Quantock residents will move out of the tower block in 2023, ready for it to be demolished.

The key benefits of the proposals are:

- Around 1,669 homes, 612 of which will be affordable homes.
- Different building heights and types, ranging from three to 18 storeys.
- Every new home to have private outside space with a garden, a terrace or a balcony.
- Parking spaces increased on the estate.
- Three new key public green spaces, including a Station Plaza.
- The road layout of Queensway brought up to surface level, with a tree lined highway retaining four lanes of traffic.
- New dedicated off-street cycle lanes and pedestrian walkways on each side of the Queensway.
- A mix of space for different businesses to support the future residents.
- Solutions to improve energy efficiency for the estate.
If you want to find out more there is a lot more information at the website www.betterqueensway.co.uk including a video highlighting all the benefits of the projects and showing what the estate might look like when it’s finished. You can also pledge your support for the scheme via the website.

Contact James for more information by calling 07860 411042 or email jcolwell@swan.org.uk

If you live on the estate, hopefully you’ve attended one of the events or read one of the Better Queensway newsletters which have been delivered to every home. Residents are being encouraged to join the Resident Steering Group where as a member, you will represent your community and get the chance to find out more about the Better Queensway regeneration, see examples of what other regeneration projects are like and use this experience to help us finalise our plans for the estate.
Please find below some simple tips that can help you keep safe from fire.

If anyone within the house smokes, leave discarded cigarettes in an ashtray with a little drop off water overnight and do not empty into a bin until the morning.

Although we urge you not to use candles as a naked flame can be dangerous, if you do choose to use candles please ensure they are placed on a non-combustible solid base away from curtains or other flammable materials & furniture.

Do not leave any cooking unattended – especially saucepans on the hob or trays under the grill.

Ensure all saucepan handles do not stick out over the edge to ensure they cannot get knocked off the stove accidentally.

When cooking toast, lower the heat of your toaster, it may take a little longer but will not burn or smoke.

Electrical appliances such as irons, hairdryers and straighteners when hot should be placed on a heat proof mat on a hard surface where they cannot fall off and they should never be left unattended and also ensure cables so not create a trip hazard.

COOKING WITH OIL OR FAT:

- Do not overfill pans with oil and heat the pan gradually with a gentle heat.
- Ensure food is at room temperature and dry when putting into hot oil so that it doesn’t splash.
- If oil starts to smoke it is too hot - so turn off the heat and leave to cool, do not attempt to move the pan and do not put water into it. Open a window to ventilate the room and monitor the situation.

If you require any further information please do feel free to contact our Fire Safety Manager, Graham Hart, on 07757 845254 or e-mail him at grahamhart@seh.southend.gov.uk

Never smoke in bed.

Never place anything combustible on top of a hob, in case the burners are accidentally turned on.

Have your circumstances changed?

A lot can happen to you and other people in your household over the duration of your tenancy, but unless you tell us, our records will only show your personal circumstances at the time you moved in!

If, for example, your mobility, sight or hearing has deteriorated – then we need to know as you may need extra help in the event of a building evacuation. Also, there may be additional fire alarm sensor equipment we can provide for you.

You can advise us of any change in your circumstances by calling us on 0800 833160 or contacting your Tenancy Officer directly by telephone or email. You can find out who your Tenancy Officer is on our website – www.southessexhomes.co.uk - under ‘Your Tenancy’.

Please also contact us if the people living in your home changes (for example if a child grows up and moves out), or if you have a new phone number.
In Essex 9% of residents have a job in construction, that’s around 80,000 people! However, an extra 13,000 to 24,000 employees are needed over the next 9 years. With trade, office-based and professional roles, there is something for everyone!

The South Essex Construction Training Academy (SECTA) was established in January last year with nearly £1m of government funding, with the aim of training up 650 new construction workers by March 2020. By this date, it had smashed this target, with 750 having completed training and 220 already in sustained employment.

SECTA has recently been awarded a further £500k and plans to support at least a further 200 people into jobs in construction by March 2021.

South Essex Construction Training Academy (SECTA) trains and supports people into jobs in the construction industry. They have training hubs on live construction sites across south Essex and offer online options.

The FREE training includes health and safety, CSCS cards, basic trade courses and specialist courses such as demolition, asbestos awareness and working from heights. Support includes CVs, job searching and interview skills workshops, 1:1 mentoring, opportunities to meet employers and access to our jobs Facebook group where new construction jobs are added daily.

If you are over 18 years old and not currently working in construction you are eligible to join SECTA. Simply register your interest at https://www.sectatraining.co.uk/register or call 01702 212856.

South Essex Homes has been working in partnership with the Focal Point Gallery to keep our residents entertained throughout the lockdown period.

Focal Point Gallery (FPG) based in Elmer Avenue, Southend, provided us with art packs consisting of two activities, both designed by local artists, along with colouring pens and a glue stick. In the first instance these packs were distributed to children living in tower blocks, with little or no access to private outside space.

During the second phase of this project, our Support Services Officers have been distributing art packs to residents in sheltered housing schemes.

It is hoped that residents will enjoy a gentle diversion by doodling, colouring and collaging and will find the activities relaxing and engaging - especially for those residents who live alone and have been shielding/isolating.

The team will be gathering feedback and photos of the finished work to publish in the Autumn issue of Insight.

If you have not yet received an art pack but would like one, please contact Sarah Gallagher on 07770 830782 or email sarahgallagher@seh.southend.gov.uk.
